WILLIAM S. WOODMAN,
Overseer of the Poor,
in Sanbornton.

REPORT, OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The Superintending School Committee, in compliance with the law, respectfully submit the following report.

Our teachers as a class, have been faithful in the discharge of their duties, and have shown themselves worthy of the position they occupied. Whatever particular exceptions there may have been to success, there has been encouraging progress; and in some cases decided advancement. Although most of our schools are in a prosperous condition, we would remind parents, and friends of education, that they cannot move along alone. Parents should personally be interested in their school affairs, if they would see them flourish. They should thoroughly acquaint themselves with the management of the school; and endeavor to prevent the tardiness and irregularity of their children; and by their presence often at the school-room, lend their influence in removing all disorder, and maintaining good discipline. The importance of good discipline in school is obvious to the mind of every teacher. Without it nothing of practical benefit can be accomplished. We are unable to report the schools visited by C. C. Rogers, in consequence of his neglecting to report them.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

C. Durgin, Prudential Committee. Miss Josie L. Wadleigh teacher in summer. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No report. Winter term, Otis S. Sanborn teacher. The instruction was of a sound, practical nature; his pupils made thorough progress, and the appearance of the school was good.

T. B. M.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

A. Barnes Prudential Committee. Miss Lizzie G. Kimball teacher in Summer. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No report. Winter term taught by Miss Priscilla Sweetser. She aimed at thoroughness in study, and a strict discipline; but failed to secure the respect and obedience of her pupils.

T. B. M.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

A. Elliott Prudential Committee. Mrs. Horatia A. Hill, teacher both terms. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No report.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Daniel F. Davis Prudential Committee. The Summer, Fall, and Winter terms, were under the care of Miss Sarah P. Comerford. The united interests of the parents, teacher, and scholars, was visible at the close. From the youngest to the oldest: every class and each member thereof, acted their part with credit. We here found the fruits of a well regulated and thoroughly instructed school.

E. D.W.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Hollis K. Thompson Prudential Committee. Miss Nancy G. Thompson, was teacher in Summer. This school was very quiet and orderly. The scholars made fair progress. Winter term by J. W. Sanders. The teacher tried to do his best, and not without considerable profit to his pupils. Good progress in spelling and arithmetic. This school needs a teacher of more confidence and experience.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Amos Baker Prudential Committee. Miss Clara A. Clisby teacher, both terms. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No report.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Daniel Jacobs, Prudential Committee. Miss Annette C. Curry, teacher in summer. Most of her pupils were very ambitious and industrious, and inclined to perform the tasks required of them. Good advancement was made during the term, and everything seemed to combine to promote the general interests of the school. Winter term, David, H. Adams, teacher. This teacher failed to secure good order. The scholars made some progress.

T. B. M.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

P. C. Shaw, Prudential Committee. Miss Augusta A. Marshall was teacher in summer. Without previous experience, she commenced with that zeal and earnestness which stirs the energy of the pupil, and gives life to the school. The room was still. The scholars were prompt and made good advancement. Winter term by Mr. Cyrus W. Bartlett. Mr. B. is very systematic, and thorough in his teachings; and secures the best of order. The district appreciated his labors, and lengthened the term.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

John S. Tilton, Prudential Committee. Fall term only. Miss Annie M. Knox, teacher. The school commenced well. The school-house was burned before the money was expended, thereby preventing a closing examination. From inquiries of the parents, and a knowledge of the teacher's previous success, we have no doubt it was beneficial.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Kinsley H. Batchelder, Prudential Committee. Summer term, Miss Narcissa Dearborn, teacher. The room was still, and each pupil attended to the part assigned him. The teacher succeeded in interesting her scholars, though the school was too small, and the scholars too young for great enthusiasm. Good improvement was made. Winter term by Miss Annie M. Knox. With ability and earnestness she gave good instructions; and managed with much credit. Like former winter terms a large sear of the time was lost by tardiness, and irregularity in attendance. Those that were prompt, and attended constantly, made thorough and marked progress.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

Joshua Sargent, Prudential Committee. Fall term only, Miss Nellie H. Richardson teacher. She was thorough, and endeavored to discharge her duty faithfully; but needed more strength to administer the needful discipline. This school was too small to be beneficial.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

George W. Lane, Prudential Committee. Winter term only. This district was very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Nora Greene. She evinced much skill in conducting the several recitations, by chaining the attention, and strengthening the pupils self-reliance. The school was characterized by faithful instructions, and diligent and orderly scholars. The advancement was good: the advanced class in Colburn's mental arithmetic excelled. The district lengthened the term.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 15.

Ira T. Crockett, Prudential Committee. The summer term was under the care of Miss A. R. Tilton. Both instruction and discipline were of the right kind. There was a marked reform in the deportment of the pupils: and satisfactory advancement in the various branches. Winter term by Luther Sargent. He is very easy in his manners, and clear in his explanations; one that is well adapted to teach, and train the youth. Whooping cough materially injured the advancement of many; but we believe the teacher proved very satisfactory to all.

E. D. W.

DISTRICT NO. 16.

Benjamin M. Durgin, Prudential Committee. Miss Lourette M. Lamprey, teacher in summer. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No Report. Winter term, taught by C. Quincy Tirrell. He was prompt, energetic and industrious. The order was good, and everything in and around the school-room, indicated that he was master there. The instruction was of a high order; and the citizens of the district are under great obligations to the teacher for his efforts in behalf of their school.

DISTRICT NO. 18.

Joseph Lougee, Prudential Committee. Miss Laura Durgin, teacher in summer. Visited by C. C. Rogers. No report. Winter term, taught by Miss Phebe P. Libbey. The Prudential Committee very wisely determined to employ teachers, whose reputation had been such as to warrant a good school. The pupils took great interest in the exercises of the school, and the closing examination proved that the term had been one of great benefit to the district. Let the same course continue to be pursued in employing teachers, and the school will soon become one of the best in town.

DISTRICT NO. 19.

William Burleigh, Prudential Committee. Miss Sarah J. Burleigh teacher in summer. Much improvement has been made in this school during the three Summer terms it has been under Miss Burleigh's instructions. Winter term taught by Fisher Ames. His method of discipline was good, and his instruction was of the most thorough and substantial nature.
